View how nine local comic artists create and convey tension in a range of comic books, paintings and multi-media artworks in this celebratory exhibition.

In celebration of the 4th anniversary of Comix Home Base, nine local comic artists come together to recreate their exhibition at the Angoulême International Comics Festival in France earlier this year, and showcasing a wide variety of original artworks examine different kinds of force. From giant comic books and multi-media artworks to paintings, see how different artists are able to create and convey tension in local comics, whether it be physical action or emotional friction.
