

10 Hong Kong Art Exhibitions To See In October

OCTOBER 2, 2018 | BY OLIVER GILES

ARTS

From 20th-century Chinese oil paintings to contemporary Cambodian video art, there's something for everyone this month

Luis Chan, Untitled (Fantasy Landscape with Undersea Mountains) (1977). (Courtesy Hanart TZ Gallery)

4 Wan Chai Grammatica: Past, Present, Future Tense

This exhibition at the Pao Galleries is the culmination of the Hong Kong Arts' Centre's 40th anniversary celebrations. Curated by Hong Kong-based Valerie Doran and featuring works by 18 artists—all of whom are from Hong Kong or have deep ties to the city—the exhibition reflects on Wan Chai's history as one of Hong Kong's creative hubs.

Several of the city's most prominent arts patrons are supporting the show, among them William Lim and his company CL3 Architects, Nelson Leong, Bryant Lu and Trevor and Dominica Yang.

Wan Chai Grammatica: Past, Present, Future Tense runs until November 4 at Pao Galleries, Hong Kong Arts Centre, 2 Harbour Road, Wan Chai; +852 2582 0200; hkac.org.hk

See also: Art Insider: Johnson Chang